Subject: New regulations for casinos charging commissions

Dear GCB,

Where does one go to create a new law or regulation for gaming in Nevada?

I find that the progressive pai gow poker game needs to have signs that explicitly state when the casino decides to charge a commission vs the player finding out 'after' the casino takes the commission.

I already spoke with the Enforcement division to no avail, as they stated that the casino is not required to post signage that they are in fact taking a commission, which I find is not fair, nor in the consumer's best interest.

They directed me to my local state representative, but I was hoping someone within the GCB would have more clarity or a faster way to resolve this matter.

Thanks in advance,

Joshua Bell
