Frequently Asked Questions

Regarding Nevada Gaming Control Board Hearings Conducted Pursuant to Nevada Revised Statutes 463.363

You were just before the Nevada Gaming Control Board (Board) regarding a patron dispute. Based on the outcome, what happens next?

If you are satisfied with the outcome of today's hearing, no further action is required. If you are dissatisfied with the outcome of today's hearing, Nevada law provides for judicial review of the Board's decision pursuant to NRS 463.366 through 463.3668. If you desire judicial review, you must file a petition requesting the same in the State District Court of the county in which the dispute occurred within 20 days of the date the decision was mailed or e-mailed to you. A copy of the petition for judicial review must be served upon the Board and all other parties of record, or their counsel of record, either personally or by certified mail. The copy served on the Board should be directed to the attention of the Office of the Hearings Examiner. The party requesting judicial review must pay the costs of transcribing the record and transmitting it to the State District Court.
